The Chill of a Summit Meeting; Tobacco Paradox

No newspaper dispatch could equal the TV camera in conveying to the American public the chill that greeted President Nixon when the chief executive's jet, "Spirit of 1776," touched down at Peking.

Mao Tse-tung met the President at the air terminal, contrary to the bet some China experts were offering. And the greetings on both sides of East-West were friendly. Still, it was a cold deal for Mr. Nixon.

There was no crowd in any of the TV-covered scenes. The streets were positively deserted as the presidential motor caravan moved from the airport to the central city. In any other summit meeting there would have been hundreds of thousands on the line of march, curious to get a glimpse of the visiting head of a powerful state. But not in China. Mao Tse-tung obviously had decided his presence was enough.

I had a feeling the reception chill was about the same temperature China would have generated had the visitor been the premier of the Soviet Union.

And perhaps that is just how matters really stand. Here are two of three unfriendly powers attempting to strike up a friendship. Russia is already screaming it is a plot against Moscow. But China is slow to shake America's hand, being full of mistrust.

And it may be a long time before the Chinese chill subsides. How else could it be between two nations that have been enemies for a generation?

Here's a paradox in the art of government:

The United States is waging a war against the cigarette, but last week-end American tobacco growers demanded that our government act to protect them against discriminatory taxation against our export sales in Europe. And politics being what it is, chances are the government will get behind the tobacco growers' plea.

This would be no more paradoxical than previous policy at home. While denouncing tobacco in general and cigarettes specifically, the federal government and practically all the states go on taxing cigarette sales.

If the paradox isn't plain to you it certainly is plain to most people in America—where the anti-cigarette campaign is so successful that cigarette sales increase every year.

I repeat: I'll bet the government moves to help the tobacco farmer—the very guy government has been trying to put out of business.

Arab Hijackers Hold Plane With RFK's Son Aboard

By DENNIS NEELD
Associated Press Writer
BEIRUT (AP) — Arab hijackers held the oldest son of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy with 135 other men aboard a West German jumbo jet in Aden today.

The hijackers described themselves as members of the Palestine Liberation Force, the government of India reported. The plane had taken off from New Delhi.

The Iraqi news agency reported from the capital of Southern Yemen that three Arabs have planted explosives in the plane to keep police at bay.

The United States appealed to the International Red Cross and the British government to seek release of the passengers.

Joseph Kennedy, 19, was flying home after a visit to Bangladesh with his uncle, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass. He remained in India after the senator had left.

Mahmoud Aras, director-general of civil aviation in Southern Yemen, denied reports that all passengers except Kennedy had been released from the plane. He said: "The situation at present is that nobody is allowed to approach the aircraft except myself."

Egypt's Middle East New Agency later reported from Aden that there are five hijackers aboard the plane, not three as previously reported.

Diplomats in Beirut said the hijackers were demanding the release of four Palestinians on trial in Cairo for the assassination of Premier Wafiq Tell of Jordan.

But the Palestinian prisoners, while hailing the hijacking as a "heroic deed", ruled out the possibility that the action was carried out to secure their release.

"If we were being tried in a foreign country, it could have been possibly done for us," said Mounzir Khalifa, one of the prisoners. "But we are in the heart of the Arab world and I'm sure the hijacking of that jumbo has nothing to do with our detention here."

NEW YORK (AP) — The Yemen mission here said today that all passengers on a hijacked West German jumbo jet have been released by five Palestinian guerrillas. Joseph P. Kennedy III was among the passengers.

The spokesman for the mission said that the hijackers were continuing to hold the aircraft and its crew members.

Americans Shoot Down 2nd MIG

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — U.S. fighters shot down their second North Vietnamese MIG in five weeks Monday night and made five attacks on antiaircraft batteries in North Vietnam, the U.S. Command reported.

Maj. Robert A. Lodge, 30, of Columbus, Ohio, and 1st Lt. Roger C. Locher, 25, of Sabetha, Kan., said they intercepted the 1,300-mile-an-hour Communist jet over northeast Laos and fired three missiles at it when about 80 miles southwest of Hanoi.

They reported an explosion and a fireball lit up the night skies. The Americans were flying an Air Force F4 Phantom.

Military spokesmen said two MIG21s crossed into Laos while American planes were supporting Laotian forces north of the Plain of Jars.

Lodge and Locher said they fired their electronically controlled missiles at one of the enemy planes and the second fled back toward Hanoi.

A U.S. spokesman, Capt. James d'Entremont, said American pilots have been detecting MIGs daily along the border between North Vietnam and Laos, but this was the first engagement reported since Jan. 19, when a Navy Phantom downed a MIG21 over North Vietnam. That was the first MIG downed in 20 months.

More than half a dozen other Air Force fighters escorted bombers on raids over Laos and reconnaissance planes over North Vietnam, attacked five missile radar sites and antiaircraft artillery batteries with bombs and missiles.

All were on the North Vietnamese side of the border, 13 to 45 miles north of the demilitarized zone.

In one strike, the command said, four antiaircraft artillery guns were reported destroyed or damaged. Results of the other attacks were not known.

Meanwhile, reports from Vietnam said the North Vietnamese are lifting their siege of Long Cheng and pulling back to the Plain of Jars in northern Laos to protect their supply network from a spoiling operation by Laotian government irregulars.

In South Vietnam, the Saigon command claimed its forces, backed by rocket-firing U.S. helicopter gunships, killed 60 enemy troops Monday in a battle in the Que Son valley about 25 miles south of Da Nang.

Nixon, Chou Buckle Down to Key Issues

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

PEKING (AP) — President Nixon and Premier Chou En-lai conferred nearly four hours today, apparently sounding out each other on the problems that separate their two countries.

In the evening, President and Mrs. Nixon, accompanied by Mme. Chiang Ching, wife of Chairman Mao Tse-tung, attended a modern revolutionary ballet in the Great Hall of the People.

Unlike the largely ceremonial meeting Monday, Nixon and Chou sat down in the Great Hall of the People with only close advisers present. This indicated that they were buckling down to the hard questions of where they disagree.

Chou's remarks of the first day, suggesting a normalization of relations, gave hope that something concrete may emerge from Nixon's visit to China.

For the first time, the Chinese press gave extensive coverage of the visit with pictures of Nixon with Mao and with Chou.

Their meeting room today was small and conducive to an exchange of opinions. Instead of the line of easy chairs in which they posed for photographers Monday, they faced each other across a rectangular table only a few feet wide and with only a few aides and interpreters present.

Henry A. Kissinger, the President's adviser on national security, was at his right and Secretary of State William P. Rogers was at his left.

The atmosphere at the outset was jovial and friendly, and all laughed with relish during the brief picture taking before the leaders got down to business.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Nixon began her sightseeing with a visit to the kitchens of the famed Peking Hotel.

Pat Tours Kitchen in Chinese Hotel

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Special Correspondent

PEKING (AP) — In the family tradition of kitchen diplomacy, Pat Nixon made a tasting tour today of the kitchens of the famed Peking Hotel, the mother house of Chinese haute cuisine.

"This is marvellous, I think I'll sit down and finish the whole bowl," exclaimed the First Lady, deftly locking her chopsticks into a morsel of chicken breast simmering in a soy and mushroom sauce.

All the little chefs in their little white Mao caps beamed with revolutionary pride as the President's lady gnoshed at random in the spotless white tiled kitchens.

There were goldfish in white sauce, egg rolls rapped on a field of seaweed, steamed baby birds couchant on clam shell pastry, something hairy called "hair vegetable in chicken soup" and hundreds of other delicacies being whipped up by the hotel's 115 chefs for the noonday delight of the 200 guests in residence in the massive old hotel.

Sun Hein Ming, chairman of the hotel's revolutionary committee, which in Maotalk means head chef, played galloping gourmet for Mrs. Nixon's hour-long romp through the menu.

Mingling with the comrades slaving over a platter of hot hors d'oeuvres, Mrs. Nixon was persuaded to sample a sweet and sour stuffed pickled squash.

"It's delicious. Here, try it," said she, turning to a reporter. He swallowed as directed and experienced a small nuclear explosion in the duodenal chamber.

"Very spicy," explained Mrs. Nixon's interpreter, too late.

The President loves Chinese food," Mrs. Nixon assured the wives of the Chinese foreign minister and vice premier who accompanied her on the kitchen tour.

"All I seem to be doing all day is eating," she sighed, waving aside a proffered egg roll. "I don't want to buy all new clothes when I get back."

IRA Bomb Kills 7 in Britain

A bomb blast killed seven persons today at the British army's biggest base. The Irish Republican Army, assuming responsibility, called the blast a reprisal for Londonderry's "Bloody Sunday."

Among the dead was Capt. Gerry Weston, 38, a Roman Catholic chaplain recently decorated by Britain for bravery in Northern Ireland. The others killed were civilians, five women and a man.

Nineteen persons were wounded, including 12 army officers.

Equal Employment Issue Likely to Win Approval

By HARRISON HUMPHRIES
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — After five weeks of Southern-dominated debate, the Senate is headed toward passage of a bill to strengthen the federal ban on discrimination in employment.

Senate leaders predicted debate on the bill would be cut off today, although two earlier efforts to obtain the necessary two-thirds majority failed by nine and six votes, respectively.

The stage was set for the debate-ending vote by the filing Friday of a petition signed by 53 senators, two more than a majority. Senate leaders expressed confidence that amendments could be disposed of and the bill passed quickly after debate was ended.

Remaining amendments include a possible modification of the Senate's decision last Tuesday to deny the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission the power to issue its own cease-and-desist orders against discriminatory practices, but allowing injunction suits in federal courts.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said he is working to clarify authority of U.S. courts to appoint special masters to try job discrimination complaints.

The bill would broaden the federal ban on job discrimination by covering all employers of 15 or more persons rather than 25, and unions of 15 or more members. The bill would also include for the first time 10.1 million state and local government employees.

Specifically exempted would be state and local elected officials and legislators and their personal assistants and immediate advisers.

Direct enforcement of the bias ban by the EEOC was sought by civil-rights groups. But court enforcement was supported by the Nixon administration and adopted in the bill passed by the House last September.

Plan to Concentrate on 20 States Fails

By MICHAEL PUTZEL
Associated Press Writer

The Democratic Governors Caucus has unanimously rejected a political consultant's proposal that the party concentrate its 1972 presidential campaign in 20 states that offer the best chance of victory and, in effect, write off the rest.

The consultant, Joseph Napolitan, told the 25 governors meeting at Annapolis, Md., Monday that the Democratic presidential nominee could carry as few as 18 of the 20 selected states and still capture the White House with a majority of the nation's electoral votes.

The target states where Napolitan suggested the Democrats put their money and effort this year include the 13 carried by Hubert H. Humphrey in 1968 in his unsuccessful campaign against Richard M. Nixon and Alaska, California, Delaware, Illinois, Missouri, New Jersey and Ohio.

In another political development Monday, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine said he would participate in a debate between the various Democratic presidential candidates if National Democratic Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien makes suitable arrangements. Muskie, generally considered the front-runner for the nomination, had been accused by some of his opponents of ducking debate challenges.

Mayor Sam Yorty of Los Angeles, however, charged that Muskie's letter to O'Brien was "a subterfuge to avoid debate."

"He knows a debate with all the candidates would be impos-

Pentagon Papers Issue Before High Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today agreed to decide whether a federal grand jury may question aides of Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, and "third parties" about arrangements for publication of the Pentagon Papers.

Gravel had challenged in an appeal the law granted the grand jury by the U.S. Circuit Court in Boston. The Justice Department, on the other hand, contended in a separate appeal that unjustified restrictions had been imposed.

The high court granted both sides a hearing without further comment.

Gravel, a critic of the Vietnam war, disclosed portions of the war study papers last June at a midnight meeting of a Senate subcommittee. He later arranged for publication of a four-volume edition by Beacon Press, the publishing arm of the Unitarian Universalist Association.

At issue before the court is the meaning of the constitutional provision that members of Congress "shall not be questioned in any other place" for "any speech or debate."

Gravel's attorneys argued that the immunity prohibits the grand jury from questioning anyone involved with the Senator in arranging for the publication.

If aides and "third parties" can be questioned, Gravel's appeal said, it would become impossible for members of Congress to get the help they need to adequately do their official work.

The Justice Department argued, meanwhile, that the Constitution bars questioning of a member of Congress by a grand jury about his legislative conduct—but does not bar questioning of others.

The grand jury in Boston had

Later, the First Lady paid a surprise visit to the Peking zoo. The local press and radio had ignored the arrival of the presidential party on Monday, but today the American visitors were the big story.

"Chairman Mao Meets President Nixon" said the headline across the top of the front page of the Peking People's Daily, the newspaper of the Communist party and China's most important journal. And beneath that headline the entire front page was devoted to the meeting between Nixon and Mao Tse-tung and the other events of the President's first day in China.

There were three pictures on the front page and four more inside of Nixon with Mao, Nixon with Chou and the banquet which Chou gave Monday night for the Nixons and most of the Americans who came with them.

The People's Daily also ran the texts of Chou's toast to the President at the banquet and Nixon's in reply.

Radio Peking began broadcasting the news of the President's visit and his meetings with the Chinese leaders at 7 a.m., including recordings of the two toasts, and kept this up all day.

So far the presidential visit has not been mentioned on the Chinese television network, although Chinese TV men have been covering the various events. But TV is not a big thing in China yet, and few antennas are seen about Peking.

U.S. to Get Pandas

PEKING (AP) — Pat Nixon paid a surprise visit to the Peking Zoo today, peeked in on the panda cage and told newsmen that Premier Chou En-lai is giving a pair of the rare beasts to the United States.

The First Lady joked with newsmen accompanying her about bumping some of them off their homebound plane to make room for the gifts, which will be America's first pandas in decades.

"Isn't he darling?" Mrs. Nixon exclaimed to Walter Cronkite as an overfed specimen named Little Star lolled about, picking his toes and chomping on a wad of sugar cane.

"Right out of F.A.O. Schwartz's window," the CBS-TV commentator replied, and almost on cue the giant panda rolled on its back and batted its black eyes adoringly.

Lin Yu-hua, curator of the Peking Zoo, told Mrs. Nixon that outside China only the Moscow, London and North Korean zoos had giant pandas. All were gifts from Peking.

Mrs. Nixon said Chou told her at the banquet Monday night that the Chinese were so pleased with the two Canadian muskoxen which the Nixons are presenting to the Chinese that they in return would give the Americans two of the prized pandas.

The First Lady did not indicate which American zoo or zoos would get the animals.

Jack Caldwell, Program Chairman, prefaced his presentation of the speaker by remarking that every city is engaged in efforts to promote industry and that many problems are confronted due to the influx of people needing more housing, more phones, water and sewage facilities, doctors and hospital beds. The school system is confronted with the same problems, Mr. Tolleson was then presented to the group.

Mao's Thoughts Bible to Chinese

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The thoughts of Chairman Mao Tse-tung have become the bible and life guide of the Chinese masses.

Lin Piao, Mao's heir apparent until his recent fall from grace and the chief popularizer of the chairman's thoughts, wrote an introduction to the 1968 edition of the famous Little Red Book.

He said the Chinese Communist party's "most fundamental task" was to "hold high the great red banner of Mao Tse-tung's thought, to arm the minds of the people throughout the country with it and to persist in using it to command every field of activity."

Here are some of Mao's thoughts:

Imperialism will not last long because it does evil things. (1958)

As for the imperialist countries, we should unite with their peoples and strive to coexist peacefully with those countries, do business with them and prevent any possible war, but under no circumstances should we harbor any unrealistic notions about them. (1957)

The enemy will not perish of himself. Neither the Chinese reactionaries nor the aggressive forces of U.S. imperialism in China will step down from the stage of history of their own accord. (1948)

Among the whites in the United States it is only the reactionary ruling circles who oppress the black people. They can in no way represent the workers, farmers, revolutionary intellectuals and other enlightened persons who comprise the overwhelming majority of the white people. (1963)

Frigid Air Sprawls Over Plains

By THE Associated Press

A huge mass of frigid air sprawled across the Great Plains and Midwest today, dropping temperatures below zero in parts of the upper Mississippi Valley and Northern Plains.

Cold-wave warnings were out in Minnesota, Iowa, the Dakotas and portions of Nebraska.

A disturbance moving into the Northeast triggered blustery winds from the Great Lakes through northern New England and into the Ohio Valley. Gusts up to 40 miles per hour were clocked in some areas.

Snow flurries were scattered across the Great Lakes and the Northeast, while a bad of showers accompanied the leading edge of the cold air mass Arkansas to the Ohio Valley.

Showers also fell from the Pacific Northwest into central California.

Fair weather was the rule in the rest of the nation.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 66 at Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; Needles, Calif., and Kingsville, Tex., to 7 below zero at International Falls and Alexandria, both in Minnesota.

First Earth Orbit Anniversary

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — John Glenn is honored guest today at a ceremony commemorating the 10th anniversary of his flight as the first American to orbit the earth.

More than 3,000 persons were invited to the event at Launch Complex 14, from which Glenn started his journey atop an Atlas missile on Feb. 20, 1962.

The official celebration was delayed until today because of the Washington's birthday holiday. Among those invited were space agency and industry members of the Project Mercury team which launched Glenn into orbit. Also attending will be space workers, local civic leaders and other astronauts.

The service tower and gantry that cradled Glenn's Atlas rocket still stand, but they long ago were deactivated and weeds grow in the area. The blockhouse still is used by the Air Force to support launches of secret spy satellites from adjacent Complex 13.

Calls FBI Agent Liar

By LEE LINDER
Associated Press Writer

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Ramsey Clark, chief defense lawyer in the Harrisburg 7 conspiracy trial, says the government's key witness was "an agent provocateur" for the FBI.

Clark, the former U.S. attorney general and one-time boss of FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, also described the witness as "a sad person who's made lying a way of life."

The charges came Monday as Clark made his opening statement in the trial of seven anti-war activists who are accused of plotting to kidnap presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger in an effort to force an end to U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

Among the defendants are Philip Berrigan, a Roman Catholic priest who allegedly masterminded the plot from his prison cell in Lewisburg federal prison, where he was serving a sentence for destroying draft board records.

Chief prosecutor William Lynch told the jury that the informer, fellow Berrigan inmate Boyd Douglas Jr., kept the FBI "advised as to what was going on."

Douglas is not expected to take the stand until next week.

Besides the kidnap plot, Berrigan and his six codefendants are accused of conspiring to blow up tunnels that carry heat to federal buildings in Washington and to vandalize draft boards around the country.

steered Friendship 7 to a successful three-orbit mission that lasted 4 hours 55 minutes.

Asked in a recent interview to assess the importance of his pioneer flight, Glenn said: "We didn't know at that time really what man was capable of doing in space. The fact that the automatic system fouled up and man had to prove on this first orbital flight that he could take over manually, well. This was a blessing because it pushed us a little further than we might otherwise have gone. We knew then that man could function in space"

The flight opened the way to more ambitious orbital missions that eventually led to man's first landing on the moon in 1969.

Glenn left the space program in 1964 to run for the Senate in his home state Ohio. But that bid was thwarted by a bathroom fall that injured his inner ear and left him in a state of dizziness for nine months. He tried again for the Senate in 1970 but lost in the Democratic primary to millionaire Howard Metzenbaum.

Glenn and his wife Annie live in Columbus, Ohio. He is on the board of directors of Royal Crown Cola and Questor Corp. and is part franchise holder in four Holiday Inns.

Methodist Kindergarten Children Have Valentines Party

On Monday, February 14, the children of Methodist Kindergarten enjoyed a Valentine's Day Party at the kindergarten.

The preceding week, while having a unit of study on the Post Office in social studies, the group set up a post office in the school room with mail sacks for each child. When making the organization Beth Graves was chosen as Postmistress, Pat Moers, Charla Townsend, Kelley Riggs, Gil Burke, Arty Mhoon, Lloyd Bass, and Mike Vines were Postal Clerks. Assistants were: John Garrett and Trey Sharpe. The children discussed the necessity of purchasing stamps when mailing letters for delivery through the United States Postal Service and each child was allowed to stamp a valentine addressed to himself. Then the group made a field trip to a street mail box in the neighborhood where the children mailed their valentines. For this trip Trey Sharpe and Michael May acted as Traffic policemen. The children made the plans for the party on Monday, prepared and served the refreshments and decorated their rooms.

The following day Mrs. Wayne DeVenney sent a treat of delicious homebaked cupcakes and balloon favors to honor her son, Mark, on his sixth birthday.

Bride-elect Honored

George Washington could not tell a lie and accordingly would never have been caught in the trap that expert West fell into.

West was looking right at those five diamonds in dummy. He hoped that his partner held three diamonds to the queen but if he only held queen-small in that key suit West wanted to try to protect that queen.

The early play started with South letting expert West hold the first one. Then South led a diamond to his ace and played back the nine. Expert West was ready with a standard false card. He played the three of diamonds on the first lead and dropped the ten next. He wanted South to believe that he had started with queen-ten-three, in which case the finesse would be the sure fire winning play. So West played the ten and South called for dummy's king. East's queen dropped and South galloped away with four no-trump for a top score.

"Quite a play," said West patronizingly. "Do you always play queen over the jack."

"Not at all," replied South. "I know the correct mathematical play was a finesse, but you look like the sort of man who would go out of his way to false card."

"Nobody's Child"

Right now, roughly one American baby in 10 is being born out of wedlock. Together, these children form yet another "minority" group in our society—the illegitimates. Do they too have constitutional rights? Does the Constitution guarantee them equal treatment, just as it does to racial and religious minorities?

The common law had a scornful name for anyone born to an unwed woman: filius nullius—"nobody's child." For centuries, such children labored under severe legal handicaps.

However, a recent decision by the United States Supreme Court has taken a giant step toward equalizing their status.

The case arose when five illegitimate children sought damages for the wrongful death of their mother in a hospital. Under state law, illegitimate children had no right to make this kind of a claim.

But the Court disregarded the state law and ruled that the children's claim must be allowed. The Court said it was unfair to penalize them for a characteristic over which they had no control. In its decision, the Court recalled the anguished protest of an illegitimate son in King Lear:

"Why bastard, wherefore base?"

Does this ruling mean that from now on, illegitimate children will have exactly the same rights as legitimate children?

Not necessarily. In one case, the question was whether an illegitimate son had the right to be supported by his father. The court said yes, because to rule otherwise would be to "cast the burden upon the innocent child."

But in another case, the question was whether an illegitimate child was automatically entitled to the same inheritance rights as a legitimate child.

This time, the answer was no. The court said that, just as inheritance laws could favor sons over grandsons or first cousins over second cousins, so they could favor legitimate children over illegitimate children.

Discrimination is lawful if it has some reasonable purpose, said the court, and discouraging immorality is a reasonable purpose.

The Generation Rap

All the Little Bad Habits... DEAR HELEN AND SUE: After reading all those suggestions for nail-biters, and your idea about having readers ask help from other readers on THEIR bad habits, I felt—"This is for me!" Can anyone tell me how I can stop cracking my knuckles?

I've been doing this for three years, and I don't think it's a nervous habit—just a bad one. Already my knuckles are getting big, and by the time I'm 20, my hands will look twice that old. I do it unconsciously.

Help, anyone? —LISA

DEAR LISA: Most bad habits (unless they're tied up with extreme nervousness) can be licked by transferring them from the unconscious to the conscious.

Tell your friends, your family, your teachers not to hold back: If they'll let you have it every time you get cracking, you'll soon be aware of those noisy knuckles. —HELEN

DEAR LISA:

When you're alone, keep your hands busy, like with knitting or crocheting. Use lots of hand lotion, and massage your knuckles when you feel an urge to crack them. That's called "transference"—substituting one motion for another, but it sometimes works.

Now, readers, let's hear how you licked the habit. —SUE

DEAR RAP:

Does anyone have a sure-fire cure for lying? This started when I was in grade school, and now I'm 21 and working. I don't think I could tell the absolute truth if my life depended on it.

I know it's wrong, but I fabricate some fantastic story and out it comes. Don't know why I haven't been caught, but I usually stick to lies that can't be proved. My friends seem to believe me.

I lie in bed at night and thing,

"Why on earth did you say that?" Nothing was accomplished by it. True, no one was hurt (except me) but I know I need help. —LIAR

DEAR LIAR: You can be darn sure your friends don't believe those lies, but they go along because they wonder what wild story you'll fabricate next.

Psychologists say habitual liars are so insecure they can't face the truth. Then again, you might be a frustrated actor who needs the limelight—and your "tale-wagging" DOES make you the center of attention, right?

Which ever, you must understand yourself before you can change. And professional help might hurry along the transformation.—HELEN

DEAR READERS: There's another kind of liar too—the person who feeds you a line to see how much you'll swallow.

I'm talking about the hoaxer from New Jersey who keeps jivin' us with a new "character" almost every week—but his typewriter gives him away: we can recognize this guy by his damaged letter "S." (And also from his style, which might sell to "torrid confessions" magazines.

Maybe he needs help, or maybe he just wants to see his stuff in his print. (Which he won't—not in GENERATION RAP, anyway.) —SUE

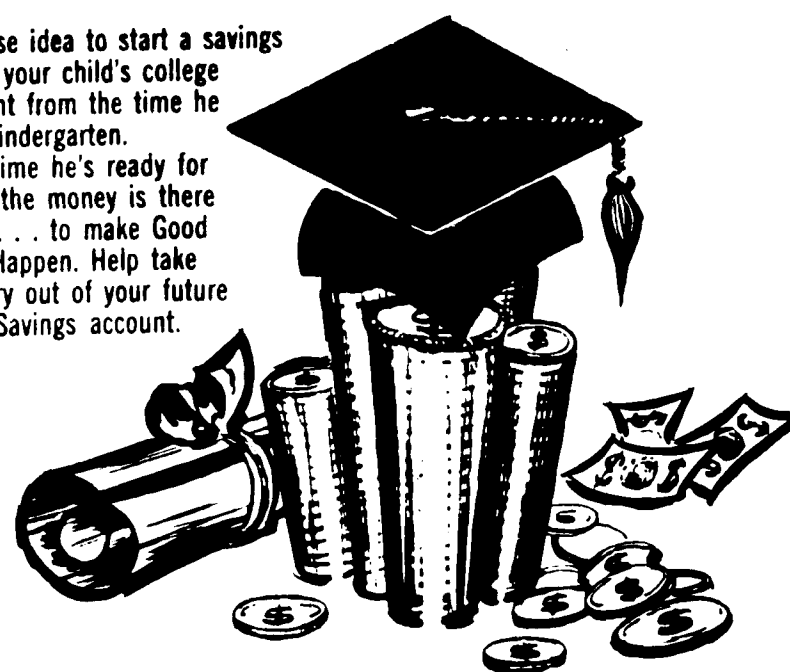

DEAR HELEN AND SUE: How do you cure nail-biting? Wear braces! If you need them, that is. —PROBLEM SOLVED, but PARENTS BROKE

DEAR RAP:

I solved my nail-biting problem with an engagement ring. Who wants to show it with a fist, instead of an extended hand? If "biter" can't swing an engagement, why doesn't she buy a gorgeous ring? It helps! —KAREN

Marshall Lives Up to Name

KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

What's in a name? Everything—in the case of the Marshall basketball team.

The Thundering Herd is entitled to its nickname ... they're fast, they rebound and they're accurate," St. Francis Coach Dick Conover said after his club was trampled 95-80 Monday night.

The eighth-ranked southern brutes didn't give the Pennsylvanians a sporting chance, running roughshod from the start of the second half to break open a close game with nine straight points.

"And that," said Conover, "is the way basketball is meant to be played."

The way basketball was played in the other parts of the country would have suited Conover's aesthetic tastes, too. All the other ranked teams won, including No. 1 UCLA.

The Bruins rolled up their 21st victory this season, defeating Washington State 85-55.

Southwestern Louisiana, the country's No. 10 team, downed Northeast Louisiana 112-91; No. 13 Virginia whipped Clemson 62-60 and 18th-ranked Kentucky turned back Georgia 87-63.

Elsewhere, Kansas State moved into a tie for first place in the tight Big Eight Conference race by hammering Oklahoma State 74-52.

St. Francis held a 46-45 half-time lead, but that didn't last long. Russ Lee, who scored 23 points in the game, powered a 50-point second half the Thundering Herd literally ran away from the underdogs. Joe Hazinsky led the losers with 23.

"We were really flat in the first half," said Marshall Coach Carl Tacy. "We thought the zone defense would contain Hazinsky but it didn't bother him or the team—they shot 70 per cent from the floor."

"We shifted to man-to-man in the second ... and that did the job all right."

UCLA didn't wait too long to do the job on Washington State, streaking to a 9-0 lead five minutes into the game. The Bruins lost most of a big lead in the second half, then turned on the power again.

Keith Wilkes and reserve Larry Hollyfield each scored 16 points to lead five Bruins in double figures. Bill Walton had 15 and Greg Lee and Henry Bibby, 13 each as UCLA won its 36th in a row and 166th in the last 171 games.

Dan Steward paced the Cougars with 23 points.

Southwestern Louisiana, enjoying Top Ten status for the first time this year, got a 41-point performance from Dwight Lamar, the nation's leading scorer.

Lamar, boosting his average to 36.4, connected on 15 of 31 field goal attempts and added 11 more from the free throw line. He also led in assists with eight and triggered a couple of Northeast Louisiana turnovers.

Roy Ebron also turned in a powerhouse performance, scoring 36 points and grabbing 24 rebounds.

Scott McCandlish delivered two free throws with four seconds left to give Virginia a tight-squeeze triumph over tough Clemson.

"It's a good win," said Virginia Coach Bill Gibson, whose team lost two games last week. "We still don't have our offense straightened out, but our shot selection was better tonight."

"Clemson's very sticky, very tough. I thought we played a great defensive game. This team wins when they have to, and they had to win tonight."

The Cavaliers' crucial victory boosted them back into first place in the zany Atlantic Coast Conference.

Kentucky lost an early lead, then used a brutal defense to choke off Georgia in the second half. The losers scored only 15 points in the first 15 minutes of the second half while being dogged by the Wildcats.

"They just came out and took the fight away from us," said Georgia Coach Ken Rosemond.

Jim Andrews led the Kentucky offense with 32 points and helped the Wildcats break away from a 36-36 tie at halftime.

Kansas State bolted to an early lead and coasted over outmanned Oklahoma State. The winners held the Cowboys scoreless for almost six minutes at one stretch, moving from a 17-10 advantage to 29-10.

Thomas on Probation

DALLAS AP — Duane Thomas, a super gun in the Dallas Cowboys' Super Bowl machine, knows today his football talent, with one more slip, can be locked behind prison doors for five years.

But his coach and the North-east Texas judge who heard him plead guilty Monday to marijuana possession have spoken of a brighter future for the quiet, strong running back.

"You are a young person and have the potential of a great future," said District Court Judge Hollis Garmon in Greenville, Tex.

Garmon assessed Thomas, 24, and Thomas' brother Bertrand, 21, five-year probated terms for the felony drug offense. The brothers were arrested Jan. 30 on an interstate highway running from Greenville to Dallas.

Under Texas law, the two also could have drawn a prison term of two years to life for the drug offense. Prosecutors said officers found 41.5 grams of marijuana in the car they occupied.

The sleek automobile, which Thomas told officers was loaned him as a promotion, was stopped by the officers after a tip it was stolen. The tip proved false.

After this year's Cowboy Super Bowl victory, Coach Tom Landry described Thomas' attitude as a "disruptive force" on the team. Thomas spent the season in a brooding silence, after being a salary holdout for a time.

But Landry has since told a Dallas Morning News interviewer, "The major hope I had this past season was that he could play and survive the year. If he had not played, I think it would have severely hurt him as a person."

Landry also said, "We've talked and he's indicated things won't be the same again as they were last season."

Southern S. Goes Into Top Spot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There was a shakeup in the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference basketball standings as Southern State pushed its way into the top spot by defeating Arkansas College 97-61.

The victory gave the Muleriders a 15-3 conference record, while OBU, which played a non-conference game Monday night, has a 14-2 AIC record.

Monday's victory for the Muleriders was their 13th straight win.

Ouachita easily defeated Baptist Christian 78-56 Monday night.

A canceled game with Arkansas AM&N last week because of racial tension in Pine Bluff hurt Ouachita's standings.

Both Ouachita and Southern State have conference games set for Thursday night.

In other AIC action Monday night Arkansas Tech defeated Henderson 100-99 in an overtime, UA Monticello beat State College of Arkansas 78-73 and Hendrix defeated Harding 83-74.

Jackson Satisfied, Is Vida Blue Next

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Now that Oakland owner Charles O. Finley has satisfied Reggie Jackson, can Vida Blue be far behind?

Jackson, who has had his share of salary squabbles with Finley before, came to terms relatively early this year, agreeing to a substantial raise over the $50,000 he earned last year when he slugged 32 homers and drove in 80 runs for the A's.

Finley has been trying to get Blue, the American League's Most Valuable Player and Cy Young Award winner, for $50,000 which is substantially less than what Vida wants.

Blue was by no mean the only big name still unsigned as major league regulars began reporting for spring training Monday.

Among the missing in the Texas Rangers' camp was massive Frank Howard and pitcher Juan Marichal was one of several absent San Francisco Giants.

Marichal is a perennial late signer and the Giants appeared more concerned about second baseman Tito Fuentes, seeking a raise of between $10,000 and $15,000. San Francisco hurried rookie infielder Chris Arnold into camp early so that short-stop Chris Speier would have someone to work with until the Fuentes issue is settled.

Detroit staged its first official workout for pitchers and catchers with left-handers Mickey Lolich and Mike Kilkenny among the missing.

Heading the Chicago White Sox list of no-shows is slugger Dick Allen, who has been no easier to sign this winter than he was when he called himself Richie. General Manager Stu Holcomb said he hadn't heard from Allen in two weeks.

Harmon Killebrew and Rod Carew have yet to reach terms with Minnesota and first baseman Ron Blomberg has an agent dickering with the New York Yankees over his contract.

Pitcher Carl Morton and outfielder Rusty Staub still haven't signed with Montreal and pitchers Sparky Lyle and Sonny Siebert are still unsatisfied with Boston's offers.

Meanwhile, Milwaukee General Manager Frank Lane announced a get-tough policy with his unsigned players. If they're still not signed by March 1, said Lane, he will subtract $100 per day from his contract offers.

Outfielders John Briggs and Curt Motton and pitcher Bill Parsons are Lane's problems. Parsons and Briggs both want 80 per cent salary boosts while Motton, a seldom-used substitute at Baltimore, wants a guaranteed minimum number of batting appearances with the Brewers.

Central Stays on Top in State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Desha Central slipped out of the top 10, but that was the only adjustment in this week's Associated Press Arkansas high school basketball poll.

Little Rock Central, with nine of the 12 first-place votes, retained the No. 1 spot after polishing off Little Rock Hall 89-85 and El Dorado 65-57 last week.

Hall retained the No. 7 spot despite its loss to the poll leader.

Desha Central had been tied with Hardy Highland for the 10th spot, but slipped out of the poll in this week's voting by Arkansas sports writers and sportscasters.

Little Rock Parkview, the No. 2 team, got none of the first-place votes. One went to Blytheville, which is No. 3, and two went to Fayetteville, which is No. 4.

Subiaco, which has the fewest losses among the top 10, remained No. 5, followed by Stuttgart, Hall, Stephens, Jonesboro Westside and Highland.

Marquette Remains Second to UCLA

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

While the rest of the teams jockey among themselves for position, UCLA and Marquette continue to ride high as the nation's 1-2 college basketball teams.

The top-ranked Bruins, undefeated in 20 games this season, maintained their position with 838 points over the Warriors, 22-0, who had 715.

A nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscasters gave UCLA 41 first-place votes Monday while handing the remaining top ballot to Marquette, despite the Warriors' loss to the pros of star Jim Chones.

The remaining ranked teams are far back in the chase and hardly any look the same as last week.

North Carolina, third last week, dropped to fifth place and gave way to Louisville. Penn advanced one spot to fourth, Louisville's spot last week.

Long Beach State jumped three pegs to No. 6, Brigham Young moved up four to No. 7; Marshall leaped from 10th to eighth, South Carolina dropped from seventh to ninth and Southwestern Louisiana moved from 12th to 10th.

Virginia and Ohio State had the biggest falls—the Cavaliers plunging from No. 6 to No. 13 and the Buckeyes going from No. 8 to No. 15.

The rest of the teams include: No. 11 Florida State; No. 12 Maryland; No. 14 Missouri; No. 16 Houston; No. 17 Hawaii; No. 18 Kentucky; No. 19 Memphis State and No. 20 Oral Roberts.

Houston and Oral Roberts are the new members of the Top Twenty, replacing Providence and Tennessee.

Beaty Sets New Scoring Record

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Mixing turn-around jump shots with lay up feeds by his teammates, Utah Stars' eight-year veteran Zelmo Beaty established a new individual scoring record with 63 points Monday night in the Stars' American Basketball Association win over Pittsburgh, 149-140.

The old record of 62 points was set a year ago by Stew Johnson formerly of Pittsburgh and now with Carolina.

"I knew I was within reach of the record when they started passing up good shots to get me the ball inside," a jubilant Beaty said after the game. "That's the kind of team this is. I don't think I would have broken the record if my teammates hadn't pushed me into it."

On his way to the record, the 6-foot-9, 235-pound Beaty hit on 24 of 31 attempts from the floor and 15 of 15 from the free throw line. He also pulled down 15 rebounds in leading the Stars' attack.

In Monday's other American

Basketball Association game, New York downed Dallas 104-95.

In the only National Basketball Association game, Baltimore shaded Philadelphia 102-101.

Condor coach Mark Binstein said after the game that his team tried every defense imaginable to stop Beaty.

When Beaty was within one basket of breaking Johnson's mark, Pittsburgh fell back on defense and Stars' guard Mike Butler yelled at teammate Jim Ligon: "Let him make it, Ligon."

Ligon did and the rest is history.

"I would have done the same thing myself," said Beaty.

Known for his scoring, Beaty also is brutal under the backboards, averaging almost 16 rebounds per game.

Pittsburgh's George Thompson kept the Condors within striking distance as he repeatedly hit key baskets and wound up the game with 45 points, playing both forward and

National Vocational Week Was Observed

The 1972 Licensed Practical Nurse Class is pictured above upon successful completion of the 16-week classroom study phase of their training. Mrs. Hazel Underwood, R.N., is instructor.

Last week was proclaimed National Vocational Education Week. This proclamation is of particular significance in Hope due to the location of Red River Vocational Technical School on Highway 29 South just outside the City Limits.

Red River Vocational Technical School is operated by the State Department of Education to provide training for out-of-school youths and adults in Technical Forestry, Practical Nursing, Business Education, Welding, Machine Shop, Diesel Mechanics, Heavy Equipment Operation and Masonry Construction. Present enrollment in full-time classes is 203 students.

Red River Vocational Technical School also offers extension (night) classes to individuals and industry throughout Southwest Arkansas. Enrollment in extension classes during February is estimated at 850.

In September 1971, the newest program offered at Red River Vocational Technical School was begun on a pilot or experimental basis—Exploratory Trade, training for high school juniors and seniors. Students enrolled in this course attend class two hours a day at Red River Vocational Technical School in addition to their regular classes in local high schools.

For more information concerning courses offered, when you may begin training, or financial assistance available, contact Red River Vocational Technical School, Post Office Box E, Hope, Arkansas.

Bradley May Be Candidate

CRYSTAL CITY, Mo. (AP) — Bill Bradley of professional basketball's New York Knickerbockers has renewed his voter registration with an eye toward possibly running for Missouri state treasurer.

The 28-year-old Rhodes-Scholar athlete visited his home town last week to renew his lapsed registration.

Bradley also spent some time in St. Louis talking with friends about a possible candidacy.

If Bradley does enter the race for state treasurer before the April 25 filing deadline, he will be the seventh Democrat in the race.

Paul M. Berra, chairman of the St. Louis Democratic Central Committee noted that "it is rather late in the game" for Bradley to be thinking about tossing his hat into the arena.

Adding to the complication of a late start would be the fact that Bradley will be busy with his basketball responsibilities until the latter part of April, allowing him little time to campaign for the August primary.

Nonetheless, the reports are that Bradley has a serious interest in the political race.

He reportedly has engaged a research firm to gauge his chances of winning the nomination.

McLarty Reports on Legislative Meet

By: MACK McLARTY
State Representative
Hempstead County

The eight-day special session adjourned last Wednesday following heated debate on revising drug control laws.

Despite the drug issue, which could have deadlocked the legislature, most representatives agree that the session had been most worthwhile.

Last week in this report, we outlined the major items of social and rehabilitative reform which we passed. Those were the items which were promoted as the "reason" for the call. If they are carried out effectively, then the session will most certainly have been worthwhile.

The Drug Problem

In the 1971 session the legislature passed HB 590, which has proven to be almost totally ineffective. Many of us expressed grave doubts about the bill last year, but passed it rather than have no drug control law of any nature. The genesis of the problem, of course, is not so much in the provisions or wording of a drug control bill, but in the fact that drug control itself is a new problem. We are charting unfamiliar territory which crosses legal boundaries into questions of morality, medical and civil rights issues.

Because the Federal Government (as well as state governments) is exploring this problem on a trial-by-error approach, there is no definitive authority or guideline for us to follow. As a result, you can ask a question and get ten different answers. This apparently caused the entire drug issue to border on controversy. Indeed, the Senate and House were at odds, with the Senate finally rescinding to the wishes of the House.

Many legislators felt that revision of the drug bill should not have been part of the special session, but rather should have been reserved for the regular session in 1973. I felt, however, that we needed to do something positive to assist law enforcement officials in obtaining workable solutions now, rather than allow the drug problem to grow unchecked until 1973.

Any time you deal with legislation that can and does affect the children of this state, you are dealing with potential political trouble. We wanted a bill which would deal harshly with the "pusher" or illegal drug seller, but would not wreck havoc with children who were experimenting.

What we finally ended up with was a relatively good bill (HB 71) which corrects the major flaws of last year's House Bill 590 and concurrently gives law enforcement officials more definable terms for dealing with the problem.

Remember that when we deal with drug enforcement, we deal with the total spectrum of human conditions: medical, moral, psychological, legal—all of these intertwined with the real needs of law enforcement.

I feel that drug control is an area which we will probably have to deal with, in one form or another, in practically every session for many years to come.

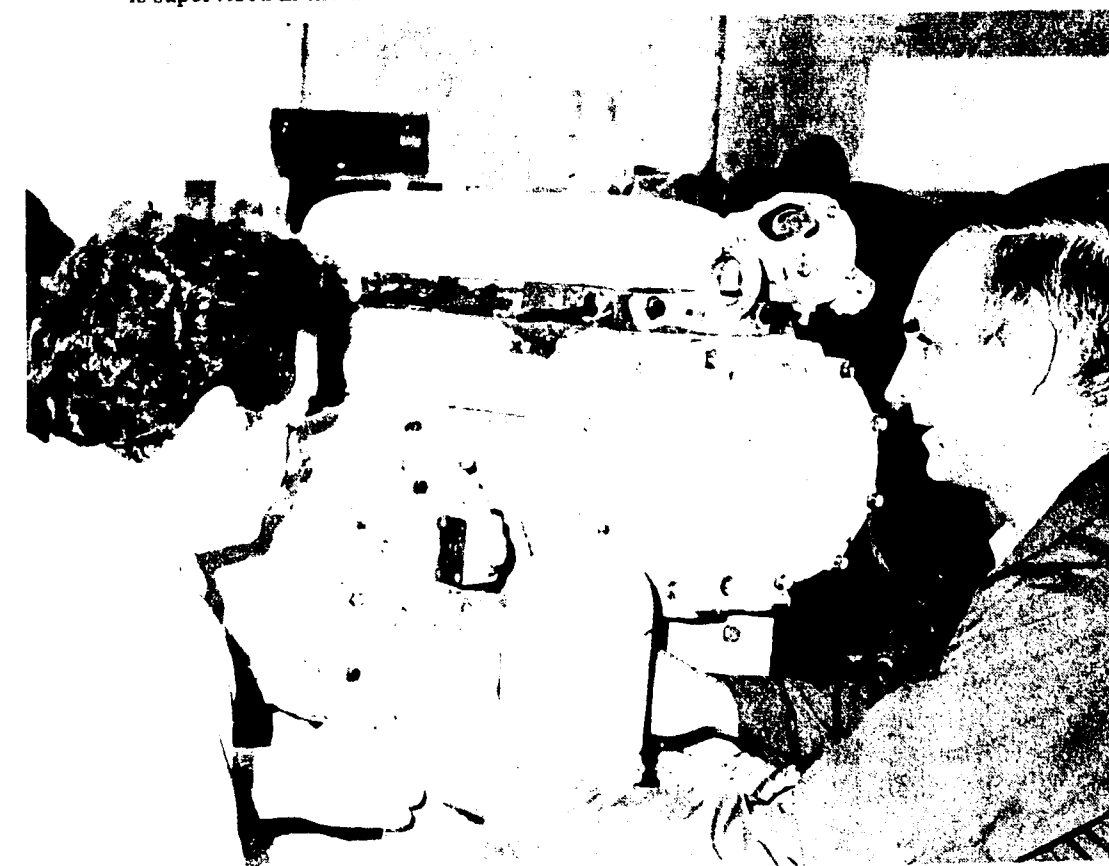

The essence of HB 71 is that it gives us a new tool for enforcement of the selling of drugs. The bill establishes a rebuttable presumption that a person possessing a large quantity of drugs intends to sell them. He would be charged with a felony and could be subjected to harsher penalties than for possession, which is only a misdemeanor. The burden on proof is on the defendant to rebut the charges that he possessed drugs that he meant to sell.

HB 71 calls for possession of a quantity equivalent to a one-week supply before the felony charge will take effect.

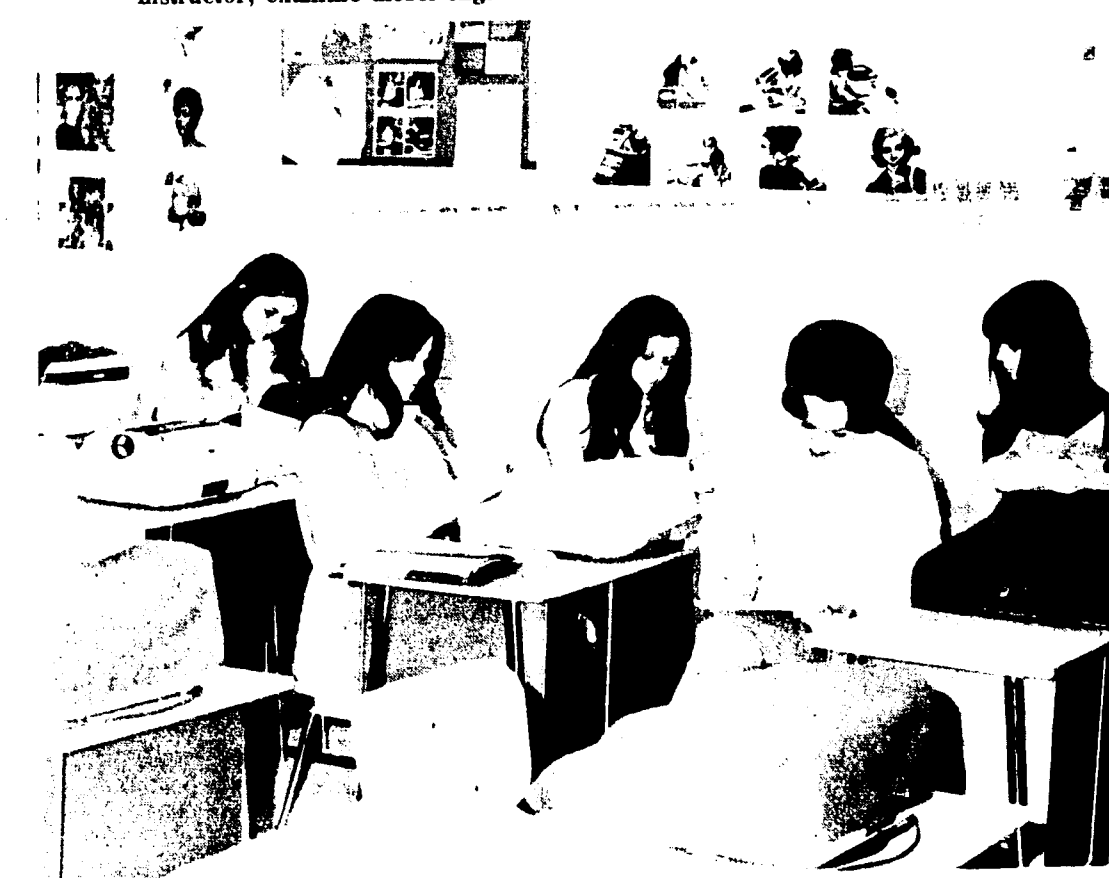

HB 64, designed to strengthen provisions in last year's HB 590, also passed. It basically accomplishes four things: (1) Raises from 15 to 30 years the maximum penalty for selling hard drugs, (2) makes illegal possession of a prescription pad a misdemeanor, (3) makes a one-year probation period mandatory for first-offender users of illegal drugs, and (4) raises the maximum penalty from one to two years for selling the less harmful illegal drugs.

Don Williamson, a student in the Machine Shop and Plant Maintenance Course, is supervised in the use of the vertical mill by David A. Normington, instructor.

Larry Burchfield, Diesel & Heavy Truck Mechanics student, and J.L. Walters, instructor, examine diesel engine.

Individualized training is stressed in the Business Education Classes. This group is practicing letter writing.

Legislation and enforcement of illegal drugs may seem somewhat removed from Hempstead County where there is no severe drug problem. But this is a national problem and the mobility of our young people into the larger cities makes Hempstead County just as vulnerable to the problem as any other town.

Hopefully, we have given officials the tools to control and prosecute those who sell drugs to our young people.

Other Bills

Also passed was a law which sets dates for the Democratic Primary at May 30 and June 13. This is in keeping with the need to have this all completed prior to the national convention. This puts the primaries at a much earlier date and is bound to produce some unusual and unexpected results in this year's elections. Filing deadline is April 3.

Another bill will allow a Congressman, namely Wilbur Mills, to run for re-election and at the same time allow him to run for national office, namely President or Vice-President. A similar bill was passed in Texas in 1960, which allowed the then Texas Senator Lyndon Johnson to run for Vice-President on the Kennedy Johnson ticket, and at the same time, run for re-election to the Senate.

Other important items included were: State funding for group hospitalization and medical insurance program for state employees; funding to convert much of the Booneville TB Sanatorium into a center for treatment of the retarded; creation of the State Drug Abuse Authority in the State Health Department, which will co-ordinate educational and informational programs to combat drug abuse.

It is becoming more and more apparent that the tradition of the Arkansas Legislature meeting once each two years is becoming impractical. Modern complexities of our society are requiring flexibility on the part of our law-making institutions. Added to this is the increasing need for more study of legislation and its long-term implications. Many of these points were found valid in the legislature-authorized "Eagleton Study", now complete and ready for consideration in the 1972 session.

We have discussed the values inherent in the re-organization and streamlining of state government. Now we must turn our attention to the streamlining and up-dating of the House and Senate. We must bring these two houses into the 20th Century and, yet, protect the basic strengths inherent in our constitutional system of legislative representation.

This will be one of the major tasks of the next legislative session. We welcome your thoughts and comments on improving our government.

Tittle in Hall of Fame

NATCHITOCHES, La. (AP) — Former New York Giants star quarterback Y.A. Tittle has been enshrined in the Louisiana Sports Hall of Fame.

During the ceremonies Monday night at Northwestern State University, Tittle said: "I don't like to minimize the importance of quarterbacks, but none of us ever became outstanding until we got with a good defensive team."

"I threw 36 touchdown passes one season (1963) but I got the ball back (from his defensive team) more that season than any other quarterback in history."

Tittle, 46, an east Texas native who earned honors as a quarterback at Louisiana State University in the mid 1940s, is now an insurance executive in Palo Alto, Calif.

Shoemaker Makes History

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — Bill Shoemaker rode Lord Derby, a 10-1 longshot, to victory in the second division of the San Luis Obispo Handicap at Santa Anita to write another chapter in the Shoe's legend.

The triumph, coupled to his victory on Practicante, another 10-1 longshot on the morning line, gave Shoemaker both ends of the split stakes race Monday and provided him with his 553rd and 554th career handicaps victories to equal the all-time stakes record set by Eddie Arcaro.

"I thought both horses had an outside shot but they didn't look like anything special," said the 40-year-old rider who is thoroughbred racing's winningest. "Especially this one here," he added, pointing to Lord Derby, a light-weighted 5-year-old.

Florida Primary Is Much Like a Crossword Puzzle

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer
MIAMI (AP) — Florida's Democratic presidential primary is a political crossword puzzle, and the key to solving it is a seven-letter word meaning governor of Alabama.

In an 11-way contest, where constituencies are crossed and contested, Gov. George C. Wallace is leading and gaining strength in the candidate polls, playing to packed houses in his self-described "candidacy against the establishment."

The candidate who can push his showing significantly past the 30-per-cent level can win in Florida, and at the moment, only Wallace approaches that kind of strength.

The pollsters rate Wallace, who rose to power in Alabama as an ardent segregationist, well ahead of Sens. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine and Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the two entries now leading the balance of the field.

Wallace tells his campaign crowds the national Democratic leaders have the shakes over his candidacy because "they know what you might do in a race where there are 10" rival contenders dividing the vote in a contest decided by a plurality. Some see it as simply Wallace against the field—a major plus for him.

Wallace hopes to take advantage of crowded primary ballots in other states later. He is meeting tonight with supporters in Annapolis, Md., to begin organizing his campaign for the May 16 Maryland primary—one of at least 10 he plans to enter.

There is a 12th entry on the Florida ballot, and it could be crucial on March 14, when voters will be asked to register opinion on the question of compulsory busing of schoolchildren for purposes of classroom racial balance.

That vote will have no legal standing, but the political fallout is likely to benefit Wallace, helping to turn out his supporters, and keeping the issue paramount.

"If I were running the Wallace campaign, that's just what I would want," said Humphrey. "The busing issue is the predominant issue," said Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, who is pushing it hard, sponsoring a constitutional amendment to forbid the practice.

Jackson argues the referendum will give voters an opportunity to oppose busing without backing Wallace.

Muskie doesn't talk about busing in his campaign speeches, which often take the tone more of the sermon than the political stump—until he comes to Wallace.

"There is a candidate in the primary whose whole career has been built on playing on people's fears, and his name is George Wallace," Muskie said in DeLand. "I'm told he's going to win ... I don't believe it." His managers believe it.

Group Opens Kleindienst Hearing

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee opens hearings today on the nomination of Richard G. Kleindienst as attorney general. Liberal Democrats are expected to use the occasion to attack Nixon administration law-and-order policies.

Regardless, all signs point to overwhelming committee approval and Senate confirmation of the conservative 48-year-old Arizonan as successor to Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell.

Mitchell is leaving March 1 to direct President Nixon's re-election campaign.

As Mitchell's deputy, Kleindienst has been an outspoken champion of such Justice Department anticrime measures as preventive detention, no-knock searches and wiretapping, and of mass arrests during last year's May Day antiwar demonstrations in Washington. Those policies and actions have come under liberal attack.

Kleindienst also is expected to be questioned about the Justice Department's enforcement of the Voting Rights Act and other civil-rights measures.

Similar civil-liberties and civil-rights issues were raised at the committee's hearings last year on the nomination of William H. Rehnquist, an assistant attorney general, to the Supreme Court.

The Senate confirmed Rehnquist's nomination last December by a 68-26 vote, and even less opposition is in prospect for Kleindienst's appointment.

The Senate traditionally has taken the position that a president should have wide leeway in selecting members of his cabinet.

The only senators who have said they will vote against Kleindienst are George McGovern, D-S.D., and Fred Harris, D-Okla.

Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania said he knows of no GOP senators who intend to vote against confirmation.

McGovern, a candidate for his party's presidential nomination, said Kleindienst has favored repressive anticrime measures and also has sought a slow-down on civil-rights enforcement.

A different tack was taken by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, another Democratic presidential candidate.

Humphrey sent a letter to Judiciary Committee Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., urging the hearings on Kleindienst's nomination be broadened into an inquiry "into the state of law and order under the present administration."

Everybody Is Considering

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — In sort of a snowball effect, four Democrats said Monday they were considering running for state attorney general after the man presently in that position, Ray Thornton Jr., announced that he will seek 4th District congressional seat.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Roger A. Glasgow, 30, of Nashville; Richard Earl Griffin, 32, of Crossett; Pros. Atty. Bill Thompson, 33, of Fort Smith and John T. Harmon, 28, the North Little Rock city attorney, all said they are considering the race.

Glasgow currently works in the attorney general's office in the Special Projects Division. Griffin ran unsuccessfully against Thornton last year after serving one term in the state Senate.

Thompson is serving his second term as prosecuting attorney in the 12th District. He is vice president of the Arkansas Prosecuting Attorney Association.

Harmon, who has been the North Little Rock city attorney for four years, said he has been discussing the matter with friends and hopes to make his mind up in the next few days.

Progress of Russia Cited

SPRINGFIELD, Ark. (AP) — A former Arkansas congressman echoed the fears of several national leaders Monday when he told the Arkansas Chamber of Commerce that Russia is surpassing the United States in several areas of defense.

E. C. "Took" Gathings of West Memphis told the group that Russia is building a nuclear submarine base at Cuba and has a Polaris-type missile with a 1,300-mile range and is developing one with a 3,000-mile range.

Gathings said Russia currently has more nuclear submarines than the United States and he said by 1975 if the current rate of progress continues, Russia will have 50 per cent more submarines than the United States.

He said that from 1971 through 1973, the U.S. defense budget has increased by more than $10 billion dollars, with most of the 1973 defense budget earmarked for the Navy because of the increase in Russia's naval strength.

Gathings was a congressman from the 1st District until he retired in 1968.

Egypt Polygamy War

By SAMI RIZKALLAH
Associated Press Writer
CAIRO (AP) — President Anwar Sadat has declared war on polygamy at the risk of offending Moslem religious leaders and many a red-blooded Egyptian male.

This remnant of the harem age is at the core of a legal and public battle to revise marriage and divorce laws in effect almost since the prophet Mohammed introduced Islam nearly 14 centuries ago.

Eisha Rateb, minister of social affairs and Egypt's only woman cabinet member is the head of a task force committee formed by Sadat to reform the country's social status laws.

Recent government statistics show that the rate of polygamy among the population doubled in the 1960s rising from 3.7 per cent in 1960 to 7.5 per cent in 1969.

There are now 21,396 recorded cases of polygamy in Egypt involving two wives, and 1,024 cases involving more than two wives. A man is theoretically entitled, under Islamic and existing Egyptian laws, to four wives.

The other issue is man's right to divorce his wife simply by uttering the words: "Go woman, you are divorced."

Mrs. Rateb, apparently aware of the indignation that the choice of a woman to head the committee must have aroused, began by tackling the easiest of the two issues, divorce.

The recommendations were rather modest, stipulating only that divorces must be carried out in court and that any man exercising his right of divorce on his own be fined, although the divorce would be legal just the same.

This touched off something of a public furor in this country where government actions are only very rarely opposed.

"This is retrogression, backwardness," wrote a leading editorialist in a Cairo daily. "Even Catholic societies, where divorce is banned by religion, are moving without exception to liberalize divorces, while we who have a religion permitting divorces are moving backwards to restrict divorce."

The opinion was issued following a rehearing in connection with an earlier opinion the court had issued upholding the conviction and $2,000 fine imposed on Grimmett.

In the supplemental opinion, however, the court held that a search warrant used by Duke Atkinson, formerly a sergeant in the Arkansas State Police, was not authorized by law.

The action took place late in 1969. Atkinson arrested Grimmett and Pat Kimbal, who was employed by Grimmett at a clinic at Waldo.

Atkinson also seized 1,812,976 units of drugs and medicines including about 656,645 units that were controlled drugs under the Drug Abuse Control Act.

The officer alleged that he had purchased certain drugs from Mrs. Kimbal.

The state argued that the warrant was valid under common law, the state Constitution has a 1971 Arkansas law, Act 123, and state statutes.

The Supreme Court, after a study of legal history, said it

Voters May Wonder About Impact

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
Nikita S. Khrushchev boasted that he kept Richard M. Nixon out of the White House in 1961. That may not have been true. However, this is again a presidential election year, and people are going to be wondering whether President Nixon's trips to Peking and Moscow will have any particular impact on the November voting.

The answer may depend on what develops from the President's talks with Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-lai, and then in May with their archrivals the Soviet leaders.

In memoirs attributed to him and published under the title "Khrushchev Remembers," the former Soviet Premier recalled that six months before the 1960 elections the United States was jolted by the news that the Russians had shot down a U2 spy plane and imprisoned the pilot. The incident blew apart Khrushchev's summit meeting with President Dwight D. Eisenhower before it could start.

In 1961 Eisenhower's successor, John F. Kennedy, met with Khrushchev at Vienna. The Khrushchev book says he told Kennedy that the Soviet Union cast "the deciding ballot" when Kennedy defeated Nixon. The account adds: "I explained that by waiting to release U2 pilot Gary Powers until after the American election we kept Nixon from being able to claim that he could deal with the Russians. Our policy made the difference of at least a half million votes, which gave Kennedy the edge he needed."

Nixon was vice president in the Eisenhower administration. Khrushchev's calculation was of course, highly debatable.

Even if Mao and Chou have no particular preference in the 1972 election, they must know that their actions have a sizeable political wallop in the West—whether for Nixon or against him.

President Harry S. Truman was re-elected in 1948 while the Russians had West Berlin under blockade. Stalin had brought the cold war to the point of a major threat to world peace. Was that a factor in Truman's margin?

In 1952 Eisenhower promised that if elected he would go to Korea and end the bloodshed between the Communists and U.N. forces. Was that a decisive factor at a time when the American nation was bone-tired of war and killing?

By opening the door to what appears to be a reconciliation with the United States, after 22 years of deep and ominous hostility, Mao and Chou might be said to have cast Nixon in the role of peacemaker. Once again, this is a time when much of the American public seems weary of war in Asia. It is again a year in which the word "peace" can have a role in the balloting.

Yet it could be argued that the Mao-Chou role and the roles of the Soviet leaders in May might work against the President if, by November, voters discerned no improvement in the world picture.

Arkla to Expand Industry Market

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The chairman and president of Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. expressed confidence Monday that his company could meet Federal Power Commission requirements to expand its industrial markets within a year.

Last week the commission okayed an Arkla application to build a pipeline for new natural gas reserves in the Anadarko Basin in the Texas and Oklahoma panhandles.

However, in issuing the order the commission said that the gas was to be used for present customers. The commission said any proposed market expansion would have to be accompanied by proof of being able to deliver the gas to the expanded area for a period of 12 years.

W. R. "Witt" Stephens, Arkla president, said that he thought the deliverability could be proved by the time the pipeline is completed.

"It may take us 12 months to do it," Stephens said, "but we're shooting to build up our reserves to where we can guarantee deliverability and serve new industries. We have 23 gas wells now hooked up, and it'll take a year to build the pipeline," he said.

"During that time, we hope to obtain more reserves, enough to serve the increased needs of our existing customers and to take care of new ones too."

Persian Sheik Takes Over

BEIRUT (AP) — Sheik Khalifa bin Hamad al Thani, prime minister of the Persian Gulf oil sheikdom of Qatar, seized power from his cousin before dawn today, Bahrain Radio reported.

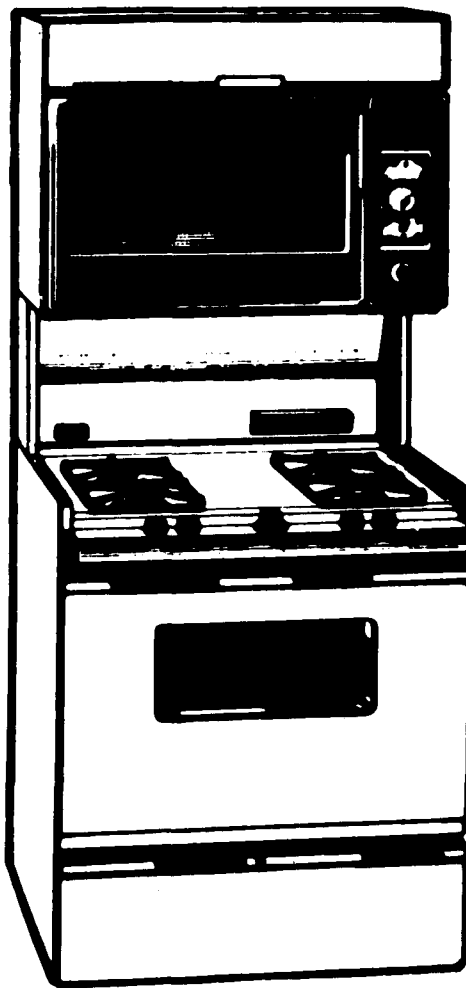

Unconfirmed reports said the deposed ruler, Sheik Ahmad bin Ali al Thani, was on a hunting trip in Iran.

The Bahrain broadcast said Radio Qatar announced the coup to the former British protectorate's 85,000 people.

Sheik Khalifa has long been the strongman of the sheikdom, and his cousin's role as head of state was a ceremonial one.

Qatar is a small peninsula that juts into the Persian Gulf from the northeast side of the Arabian peninsula. It has an area of 4,247 square miles and in 1969 produced nearly 130 million barrels of crude petroleum.

Florida Primary Is Much Like a Crossword Puzzle

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer
MIAMI (AP) — Florida's Democratic presidential primary is a political crossword puzzle, and the key to solving it is a seven-letter word meaning governor of Alabama.

In an 11-way contest, where constituencies are crossed and contested, Gov. George C. Wallace is leading and gaining strength in the candidate polls, playing to packed houses in his self-described "candidacy against the establishment."

The candidate who can push his showing significantly past the 30-per-cent level can win in Florida, and at the moment, only Wallace approaches that kind of strength.

The pollsters rate Wallace, who rose to power in Alabama as an ardent segregationist, well ahead of Sens. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine and Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the two entries now leading the balance of the field.

Wallace tells his campaign crowds the national Democratic leaders have the shakes over his candidacy because "they know where you might do in a race where there are 10" rival contenders dividing the vote in a contest decided by a plurality. Some see it as simply Wallace against the field—a major plus for him.

Wallace hopes to take advantage of crowded primary ballots in other states later. He is meeting tonight with supporters in Annapolis, Md., to begin organizing his campaign for the May 16 Maryland primary—one of at least 10 he plans to enter.

There is a 12th entry on the Florida ballot, and it could be crucial on March 14, when voters will be asked to register opinion on the question of compulsory busing of schoolchildren for purposes of classroom racial balance.

That vote will have no legal standing, but the political fallout is likely to benefit Wallace, helping to turn out his supporters, and keeping the issue paramount.

"If I were running the Wallace campaign, that's just what I would want," said Humphrey. "The busing issue is the predominant issue," said Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, who is pushing it hard, sponsoring a constitutional amendment to forbid the practice.

Jackson argues the referendum will give voters an opportunity to oppose busing without backing Wallace.

Muskie doesn't talk about busing in his campaign speeches, which often take the tone more of the sermon than the political stump—until he comes to Wallace.

"There is a candidate in the primary whose whole career has been built on playing on people's fears, and his name is George Wallace," Muskie said in Deland. "I'm told he's going to win ... I don't believe it."

His managers believe it.

Egypt Polygamy War

By SAMI RIZKALLAH
Associated Press Writer
CAIRO (AP) — President Anwar Sadat has declared war on polygamy at the risk of offending Moslem religious leaders and many a red-blooded Egyptian male.

This remnant of the harem age is at the core of a legal and public battle to revise marriage and divorce laws in effect almost since the prophet Mohammed introduced Islam nearly 14 centuries ago.

Eisha Rateb, minister of social affairs and Egypt's only woman cabinet member is the head of a task force committee formed by Sadat to reform the country's social status laws.

Recent government statistics show that the rate of polygamy among the population doubled in the 1960s rising from 3.7 per cent in 1960 to 7.5 per cent in 1969.

There are now 21,396 recorded cases of polygamy in Egypt involving two wives, and 1,024 cases involving more than two wives. A man is theoretically entitled, under Islamic and existing Egyptian laws, to four wives.

The other issue is man's right to divorce his wife simply by uttering the words: "Go woman, you are divorced."

Mrs. Rateb, apparently aware of the indignation that the choice of a woman to head the committee must have aroused, began by tackling the easiest of the two issues, divorce.

The recommendations were rather modest, stipulating only that divorces must be carried out in court and that any man exercising his right of divorce on his own be fined, although the divorce would be legal just the same.

This touched off something of a public furor in this country where government actions are only very rarely opposed.

"This is retrogression, backwardness," wrote a leading editorialist in a Cairo daily. "Even Catholic societies, where divorce is banned by religion, are moving without exception to liberalize divorces, while we who have a religion permitting divorces are moving backwards to restrict divorce."

Conviction of Waldo Doctor Overturned

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Supreme Court today issued a supplemental opinion reversing the conviction of Dr. J. Byron Grimmer of Waldo on a charge of failing to keep complete records of drugs.

The opinion was issued following a rehearing in connection with an earlier opinion the court had issued upholding the conviction and $2,000 fine imposed on Grimmer.

In the supplemental opinion, however, the court held that a search warrant used by Duke Atkinson, formerly a sergeant in the Arkansas State Police, was not authorized by law.

The action took place late in 1969. Atkinson arrested Grimmer and Pat Kimbal, who was employed by Grimmer at a clinic at Waldo.

Atkinson also seized 1,812,976 units of drugs and medicines including about 654,645 units that were controlled drugs under the Drug Abuse Control Act.

The officer alleged that he had purchased without prescription certain drugs from Mrs. Kimbal.

The state argued that the warrant was valid under common law, the state Constitution and state statutes.

The Supreme Court, after a study of legal history, said it

Voters May Wonder About Impact

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
Nikita S. Khrushchev boasted that he kept Richard M. Nixon out of the White House in 1961. That may not have been true. However, this is again a presidential election year, and people are going to be wondering whether President Nixon's trips to Peking and Moscow will have any particular impact on the November voting. The answer may depend on what develops from the President's talks with Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-lai, and then in May with their archrivals the Soviet leaders.

In memoirs attributed to him and published under the title "Khrushchev Remembers," the former Soviet Premier recalled that six months before the 1960 elections the United States was jolted by the news that the Russians had shot down a U2 spy plane and imprisoned the pilot. The incident blew apart Khrushchev's summit meeting with President Dwight D. Eisenhower before it could start.

In 1961 Eisenhower's successor, John F. Kennedy, met with Khrushchev at Vienna. The Khrushchev book says he told Kennedy that the Soviet Union cast "the deciding ballot" when Kennedy defeated Nixon. The account adds: "I explained that by waiting to release U2 pilot Gary Powers until after the American election we kept Nixon from being able to claim that he could deal with the Russians. Our policy made the difference of at least a half million votes, which gave Kennedy the edge he needed."

Nixon was vice president in the Eisenhower administration. Khrushchev's calculation was of course, highly debatable.

Even if Mao and Chou have no particular preference in the 1972 election, they must know that their actions have a sizable political wallop in the West—whether for Nixon or against him.

President Harry S. Truman was re-elected in 1948 while the Russians had West Berlin under blockade. Stalin had brought the cold war to the point of a major threat to world peace. Was that a factor in Truman's margin? In 1962 Eisenhower promised that if elected he would go to Korea and end the bloodshed between the Communists and U.N. forces. Was that a decisive factor at a time when the American nation was bone-tired of war and killing?

By opening the door to what appears to be a reconciliation with the United States, after 22 years of deep and ominous hostility, Mao and Chou might be said to have cast Nixon in the role of peacemaker. Once again, this is a time when much of the American public seems weary of war in Asia. It is again a year in which the word "peace" can have a role in the balloting.

Yet it could be argued that the Mao-Chou role and the roles of the Soviet leaders in May might work against the President if, by November, voters discerned no improvement in the world picture.

Group Opens Kleindienst Hearing

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee opens hearings today on the nomination of Richard G. Kleindienst as attorney general. Liberal Democrats are expected to use the occasion to attack Nixon administration law-and-order policies.

Regardless, all signs point to overwhelming committee approval and Senate confirmation of the conservative 48-year-old Arizonan as successor to Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell.

Mitchell is leaving March 1 to direct President Nixon's re-election campaign.

As Mitchell's deputy, Kleindienst has been an outspoken champion of such Justice Department anticrime measures as preventive detention, no-knock searches and wiretapping, and of mass arrests during last year's May Day antiwar demonstrations in Washington. Those policies and actions have come under liberal attack.

Kleindienst also is expected to be questioned about the Justice Department's enforcement of the Voting Rights Act and other civil-rights measures.

Similar civil-liberties and civil-rights issues were raised at the committee's hearings last year on the nomination of William H. Rehnquist, an assistant attorney general, to the Supreme Court.

The Senate confirmed Rehnquist's nomination last December by a 68-26 vote, and even less opposition is in prospect for Kleindienst's appointment.

The Senate traditionally has taken the position that a president should have wide leeway in selecting members of his cabinet.

The only senators who have said they will vote against Kleindienst are George McGovern, D-S.D., and Fred Harris, D-Okla.

Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania said he knows of no GOP senators who intend to vote against confirmation.

McGovern, a candidate for his party's presidential nomination, said Kleindienst has favored repressive anticrime measures and also has sought a slow-down on civil-rights enforcement.

A different tack was taken by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, another Democratic presidential candidate.

Humphrey sent a letter to Judiciary Committee Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., urging the hearings on Kleindienst's nomination be broadened into an inquiry "into the state of law and order under the present administration."

Everybody Is Considering

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — In sort of a snowball effect, four Democrats said Monday they were considering running for state attorney general after the man presently in that position, Ray Thornton Jr., announced that he will seek 4th District congressional seat.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Roger A. Glasgow, 30, of Nashville; Richard Earl Griffin, 32, of Crossett; Pros. Atty. Bill Thompson, 33, of Fort Smith and John T. Harmon, 28, the North Little Rock city attorney, all said they are considering the race.

Glasgow currently works in the attorney general's office in the Special Projects Division.

Griffin ran unsuccessfully against Thornton last year after serving one term in the state Senate.

Thompson is serving his second term as prosecuting attorney in the 12th District. He is vice president of the Arkansas Prosecuting Attorney Association.

Harmon, who has been the North Little Rock city attorney for four years, said he has been discussing the matter with friends and hopes to make his mind up in the next few days.

Progress of Russia Cited

BLITHEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — A former Arkansas congressman echoed the fears of several national leaders Monday when he told the Arkansas Chamber of Commerce that Russia is surpassing the United States in several areas of defense.

E. C. "Took" Gathings of West Memphis told the group that Russia is building a nuclear submarine base at Cuba and has a Polaris-type missile with a 1,300-mile range and is developing one with a 3,000-mile range.

Gathings said Russia currently has more nuclear submarines than the United States and he said by 1975 if the current rate of progress continues, Russia will have 50 per cent more submarines than the United States.

He said that from 1971 through 1973, the U.S. defense budget has increased by more than $10 billion dollars, with most of the 1973 defense budget earmarked for the Navy because of the increase in Russia's naval strength.

Gathings was a congressman from the 1st District until he retired in 1968.
